Leon Levine Hall of Health Sciences

Appalachian State University cut the ribbon on the Connect NC Bond's first completed project on Friday, Sept. 21. Levine Hall is Appalachian's newest and largest academic building to date, and its design facilitates innovative and collaborative learning for thousands of students.

Read full story

Read Dean Marie Huff's remarks on the Grand Opening here.
First Day of Class

Dr. Benjamin Russell is pictured above teaching Audiology in Leon Levine Hall on the first day of class. Dr. Russell, Clinical Associate Professor in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, spoke about the benefits of having his clinic and classroom in the same location, "The opening of Leon Levine Hall gives our college a cohesive presence and allows interdisciplinary collaboration to occur more easily and more naturally."

A Fitting Tribute

Gene "Buddy" Thomas ’06 wanted to honor his uncle Andy and his love of Appalachian State University. After discussions with his family, Will Sears, Director of Development for the Walker College of Business and Jenny Ward, Director of Development for the Beaver College of Health Sciences, the Thomas family decided to dedicate a room in Andy Thomas’ memory. Since he was a Health Care Management major and loved all Boone has to offer, the family decided on a room with a view in the Leon Levine Hall of Health Sciences.

Help us to continue to take health to new heights!
Donate here.

Appalachian State University
Beaver College of Health Sciences
ASU Box 32170
Boone, NC 28608

Stay connected with us!